Helen Keller is known throughout Alabama and this nation as "America's First Lady of Courage," and rightly so, because she defied insurmountable odds to become the champion of all people who are deaf and blind.

Although she was born 83 years ago, on June 27, 1880, there lives today the Helen Keller Shrine at Tusculum as a memorial to this great lady of Alabama and it is a must for any tour into the northwestern part of our State. Situated in this charming old southern town amid magnolias and jasmynes, "Ivy Green" is as quaint and charming as its setting. This house where Helen Keller was born and grew up is typically southern with big square rooms boasting individual fireplaces and high ceilings, thus presenting a reminder of the manner of living when "Ivy Green" was young. It was built in 1820 by Miss Keller's grandfather.

Helen Keller was born a normal child but at the age of two was stricken with an illness which left her both blind and deaf. With the help of Anne Sullivan, a teacher from Perkins Institute in Boston, Helen Keller overcame these obstacles with one of the most courageous hearts and indomitable spirits in

THE NEWS from the nursing front seems to be a little more cheerful with many of our sick folks coming home from hospitals and others getting out into the nice sunshine.

Margaret Smith is enjoying being at home and her affectionate daughters surprised her with a pretty cake to mark her anniversary. Mr. Ernest Owen is improving and we hope will soon be at his vigil post in the front yard. It doesn't seem right to drive by and not see "Pop" enjoying the day. Mildred Hudson is feeling better after her week and we send her our sincerest wishes that her recovery will be complete, the court house is now looking normal once again with Judge English presiding over it with the air of dignity and friendliness. We regretted to learn that "Miss Clyde" English was not well, however, Lloyd and Cupidon Crook were fighting a battle against illness when this was written and we hope they are seeing brighter days when you read this; maybe the sun will soon shine and we will all be well.

WHEN this goes to press on Thursday, you will still have two opportunities to hear Geraldine Conway speak in Geneva. We had the pleasure of hearing her in Troy three years ago when she conducted a revival at the Troy Methodist Church that is still being talked about. Pastor of the Troy church then, and now at Geneva, is Dr. Tate, who has been fortunate enough to secure Mrs. Conway for a week's revival which began last Sunday. Let me urge you to take this opportunity to hear Geraldine Conway. She is a tall, striking blonde with the hair of a fashion model and a religious message straight from the Bible. She bridges denomination and stresses a return to God in a most effective oratorical manner. It is astounding that she can find time to be here in her busy schedule. She has recently returned from India and spoke bravely in Cuba against the dark haired Castro. If you attend you will see people who have driven hundreds of miles to hear her, for once you participate in one of her services, you return to the next as does the robin to spring. We hope to make several trips.

CONGRATULATIONS are due to the Humil Dyesses, who have added one fat baby to their family two weeks ago. The little boy was born in the Oph hospital and is now happily at home in Elba. There is nothing nicer than a first baby and this one will be named Harold for his proud father.

THE MAKE-UP COMMITTEE for the Easter Pageant at the Methodist Church is forging bravely ahead and rather enjoying the whole deal. The problem is how to change today's crew-cut, fair haired men into the dark, long haired gentlemen of Biblical times! The prospect seems overwhelming but the committee is such a nice one to work with that we feel confident that the solution will be found. There's Jo Anne Rainer, Pat Williams, Gayle Stephens and Dorothy Lindsey and we will probably recruit a few more before

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DEAR LADY and almost the whole town called or dropped in to wish Mrs. John Garrett a happy birthday last Wednesday. And she did so appreciate and enjoy each visit. She had received several lovely cakes and invited each caller to a "tea party." When visiting with Mrs. Garrett, it is possible to forget the hurly-burly of modern times and become a part of gracious living and genial conversation. We wish her many happy returns.

American Red Cross Urges Parents To Guard Against Accidental Poisonings

To stem the rising tide of accidental poisonings of small children, the American Red Cross urges parents to take the utmost precautions to keep poisonous substances beyond their children's reach. The Red Cross has joined 21 member organizations of the National Poisoning Prevention Council in observing National Poison Prevention Week, March 17-23.

More than 500,000 accidental poisonings a year happen to children five years old and younger. Proper safeguards by parents could have prevented most of these accidents, of which some 500 were fatal.

Prevention and emergency care of poison victims is taught in all Red Cross first aid courses. At this time, peak season for first aid training, some 25,000 classes are in progress around the country. The following measures are recommended to prevent small children from swallowing household items which are poisonous. Lock up drugs, insecticides, detergents, and cleaning materials, or store them well beyond children's reach. Remember that children learn to climb at an early age—before they can tell the difference between harmless and harmless substances. Return the dangerous items to their customary storage places immediately after using. When the illness for which a medicine was prescribed is over, dispose of the remaining medicine by flushing it down the drain. Rinse the container thoroughly before discarding.

New Size Coke Now Available

A newly developed 16-ounce bottle for Coca-Cola was introduced to the Elba area March 4. It was announced today by Stanhope Elmore, Jr., Manager of Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Dothan. The new, half-gallon bottle will contain the famous Coca-Cola bottle shape.

Elmore stated that the new size is being introduced to serve a growing segment of the soft drink consumer market which prefers the half-gallon size. The new size bottle has the same shape as present bottles for Coca-Cola. Size is simply a matter of preference and now the public can have a choice among several bottle sizes.

The Coca-Cola bottle is said to be readily identifiable by 90 percent of the world's population. Raymond Loewy, the great industrial designer, has called it "the most perfectly designed package in use today."

It was designed in 1915 by Alex Samuelson, a Terre Haute, Ind., designer. It may be put of the year more than 1,500,000 retail outlets in the United States alone.

In the Elba area, Coke is also available in regular and king size.

A display advertisement appears in this issue of The Clipper announcing the new size bottle.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

ADMINISTRATION OF DRUGS

A drug is administered to a patient in such a way as to have the best effect in the shortest time. This may be by mouth, hypodermically, on the skin, intravenously, by inhalation, intraspinally, or sublingually.

By mouth, the drug is swallowed and absorbed into the system from the alimentary or food tract. Hypodermically, the drug is put into the tissues by means of a special hollow needle and a syringe. Hypodermic administration is frequently used when the patient cannot swallow medicine, as when unconscious or delirious. The following measures are recommended to prevent small children from swallowing household items which are poisonous. Lock up drugs, insecticides, detergents, and cleaning materials, or store them well beyond children's reach. Remember that children learn to climb at an early age—before they can tell the difference between harmless and harmless substances. Return the dangerous items to their customary storage places immediately after using. When the illness for which a medicine was prescribed is over, dispose of the remaining medicine by flushing it down the drain. Rinse the container thoroughly before discarding.

Drugs introduced intravenously, that is into the veins, act with promptness as the dose passes almost immediately into the circulation. By inhalation, chloroform or ether are absorbed into the system; also medicated vapors are sometimes employed for local effect on the respiratory organs.

Intraspinal administration of a drug is used for the purpose of spinal anesthesia. Sublingually means that the drug is placed beneath the tongue.

The manner of giving drugs varies in different cases. Most patients, if asked how they would like to take their medicine, would likely say in a pill entirely surrounded by sugar; and that is exactly the way some medicines are given.

Meacham says, "Farming has changed from what it was at one time. It's now a business. If it's not a business, and you don't treat it like one, you had better get out."

Realizing that he must wean as many pigs as possible, Meacham has just finished a six-stall farrowing house with jacks, heat lamps, running water, and a 10 by 30 foot exercise pen which extends out to the open from each individual stall.

Household Hints If you're planning to use your washing machine for drying, put a plastic bag over the lid of the washer to keep the splash from staining it.

Stuffed bell peppers that are greased before baking will keep their color fresh and green.

Put a slice of lemon with sweet potatoes when they are cooked. It will help them retain their color.

The best way to store brown sugar is in a jar with prunes. This way, the prunes absorb sweetness from the sugar, and the sugar takes some of the moisture from the prunes.

Use baking soda as a cleaner to restore the transparency of an oven glass door.

Two large bath towels sewn together will make a beautiful bedspread for a small child's bed.

Plastic vegetable bags good containers for holding balls of yarn for knitting. Run the end of the yarn through one of the holes.

Put pliable roof paint on a leaky garden hose to restore it to use.

Mrs. Garrett
Complimented
With Party

Mrs. J.M. Garrett, one of Elba's most gracious ladies, was given a very pleasant surprise last Wednesday when many of her friends came by to wish her a happy birthday along with others, early that morning. Almost before she knew it, her daughter, Miss Jeanette Garrett, and her companion, Mrs. Jordan, had decorated the dining table with a beautiful birthday cake, a pretty arrangement of pink glads, and silver appointments.

Mrs. Garrett wore a light blue suit with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. She had dressed before noon to eat lunch at Rowle Hotel in Enterprise with her son and daughter in celebration of the day. As her friends began to drop in, she soon realized that she was the recipient of a delightful surprise birthday tea. During the afternoon, Mrs. Bill Byrum, the former Miss Margaret Garrett, called her mother from Syracuse, New York, to express her love and extend birthday greetings to her. This climaxed what Mrs. Garrett termed a wonderful birthday.

OF YOUR CHOICE
THIS SUNDAYTHE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NO PLACE TO GO

All dressed up, the expression goes, and no place to go. These boys are hardly "dressed up." But the rest of the description fits them perfectly. They are two of the millions of American children who are growing up WITHOUT A CHURCH. Boys with the God-given right to grow up in faith... with the American right to worship God freely according to the dictates of their own conscience. But someone hasn't understood their rights.

Parents who make no provision for their children's religious education are, in effect, robbing these children of the most precious heritage of every American. Growups who, by the tell-tale example of indifference, encourage boys and girls to emulate the Godlessness that the Iron Curtain seeks to foster are undermining the spiritual substance of our nation.

No more serious problem faces America today than the children who on Sunday morning in a land of churches have no place to go. Honestly, now, are you creating the problem—or helping to conquer it?

HERBERT B. RINGSDORF of Elba, has been commissioned a second lieutenant at the United States Air Force Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Texas. He was honored as a draftee at graduation ceremonies for his class.

Lieutenant Ringsdorf received his appointment to OTS through competitive examination with other college graduates. He will be assigned to Vance AFB, Okla., for pilot training.

The lieutenant, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Ringsdorf, of Simmons Street, Elba, received his B. S. degree from the University of Alabama.

HUBERT L. GLENN, Army Sergeant First Class, whose wife Mary, lives on Route 2, Enterprise, recently took part in Exercise WINTERSNAP II, a cold weather field training maneuver in Korea, with other members of the 7th Division's 17th Infantry.

The exercise was designed to test and improve the combat effectiveness of U. S. forces helping defend the Republic of South Korea.

Sergeant Glenn, assigned to Combat Support Company of the Infantry's 1st Battle Group, entered the Army in 1945. He was last stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where he was assigned to the 4th Artillery in September 1962.

Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie V. Glenn, Route 1, Winston Salem (N. C.), is a graduate of Carver High School, Winston Salem.

LEWIS E. WELCH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Welch, 217 Pledge Street, Enterprise, recently was assigned to the 4th Artillery in September 1962.

Welch, a missile crewman in Battery B of the artillery's 2d Missile Battalion, entered the Army in December 1962 and was last stationed at Fort Gordon, Georgia.

The 18-year-old soldier was employed by a furniture company in Opp, before entering the Army.

Wallace Authorizes Creation Of Youth Council In State

Governor George C. Wallace, in a concerted effort to meet the needs of Alabama youth, has set a political precedent by authorizing the creation of a Governor's Youth Council.

A bill providing for the Council and approved by the Governor, will be introduced to joint session of the House and Senate of the Y.M.C.A. Youth Legislature, which convenes March 21 in the State Capitol. If the bill is passed by the Youth Legislature, it will be presented to the Governor for his signature.

The purpose of the Council, Wallace said, "is to provide a training ground for the future leaders in our state government. I believe that the greatest natural resource is our youth. The hope of a better Alabama for the future rests upon the shoulders of the young people of this state. It is our responsibility to teach them as much as we can about the problems they will be facing and the decisions they will have to make."

The bill, under the terms of the bill, is to be composed of 18 members, two from each congressional district. The speaker of the house, the lieutenant governor, governor and two members at large of the Youth Legislature will compose the executive planning committee for the Council.

Members of the Council are to be students ranging from sophomores in high school to freshmen in college. In order to be eligible for membership, the students must have proven their ability as youth leaders and have shown outstanding ability in analyzing present day issues and affairs.

The bill also provides that the Council shall meet at least three times a year, once during the month of April preceding the convening of the Alabama Legislature. This would give the Council an opportunity to suggest needed legislation for the youth of Alabama.

The Council, as outlined in the bill, shall conduct research work on the problems of young people in Alabama. The Council shall advise the governor on results of such research and report to him on matters concerning the youth of Alabama and the problems of its citizens.

JOHN W. ROSS, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ross of Buford Street, Elba, is undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The indoctrination to Navy life began on February 11. It consists of physical fitness drills, military law, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival, and first aid.

During the training, recruits receive tests and interviews which determine future training and assignments in the Navy.

Thinking Of Tasks
Often Wears Us Out

Sometimes it's not the task, but the mere thought of it that makes us tired. In managing mental energy, attitude is the least tangible and most important resource.

"Attitude toward work is one of the most powerful motivating factors in the development of fatigue," says Elizabeth Bryan, Auburn University home management specialist.

"Bodily symptoms of fatigue are often induced not by work but by the mere contemplation of it," the Extension Service staff members says.

Red Cross Film Slated Tonight

The Red Cross is engaged in widespread flood and tornado relief operations in the East and South which may require expenditure running to several million dollars, Maxwell Reeves, chairman of the West Coffee County Chapter, was advised March 13 by national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Robert Edson, ARC national disaster director, said major flooding, as yet not at its peak in several Eastern states, may approach a 1957 flood relief job by the organization in that same general area, which cost $4,000,000 for help to 9,500 families in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia. Flood relief also is being given in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

At present, over 200 disaster staff of the national Red Cross are assigned to flood and tornado areas, helping local chapters to provide emergency aid and continue a job of weeks or months, in some sections, helping families recover from the disaster.

In the South, by preliminary count, 1,200 families have property losses resulting from last Tuesday's rash of tornadoes in three states, and current flooding in Tennessee and Alabama. This figure is expected to increase substantially as surveys continue and floods crest.

Twisters which struck in Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee on March 11 took a toll of at least nine dead, 60 injured, nearly 100 homes destroyed, and 200 damaged.

At all tornado sites, or in local Red Cross chapters, applications are being taken for family needs resulting from the disasters.

"This help," Reeves said, "will consist of funds to supplement families' own resources for restoring their homes and furnishings to living condition, also money as needed for paying medical, hospital, and other storm-caused expenses."

"This type of aid will account for perhaps 80 to 90 percent of the total cost of the relief operations which, in some areas, particularly in the flooded eastern towns, will continue for two or three months."

These funds, Reeves pointed out, come from contributions in United Fund and Red Cross annual campaigns.

Reeves states that the West Coffee County fund collection kick-off will be the first week in April. Details as to plans will be announced next week.

Reeves announced that a film will be shown at the Elba National Guard Armory, sponsored by the West Coffee County Red Cross Chapter. This film will be of particular interest in Elba and vicinity since it will be of major interest in reference to Elba's hospitals and the Elba Hospital. The film will be shown free and will take about 15 minutes to show. The film entitled "Prescription for Life" will be shown several times on Thursday night, March 21st, beginning at 7 o'clock. The last show will be about 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

The Elba American Legion Post has offered their assistance in the collection of the Red Cross funds.

Reeves said that he is hoping that this will be the biggest campaign the Red Cross has ever had in West Coffee. A quota of approximately $2,800 has been set.

A plan is being made to hire a part-time paid Red Cross worker and the Grey Lady program organized.

In the South, preliminary counts indicate at least 1,200 families hit by twisters and floods happening recently in Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama. Twisters struck in nine Alabama counties, four in Tennessee and five in Mississippi. Heavy flooding is current particularly at Huntsville and Athens, Alabama, and at Newport, McMinville, Sevierville, and Sweetwater, Tennessee. Shelters are in operation at most major flood points.

In most tornado-stricken sections, in the South, cleanup is well under way, and there has been little need for mass shelter, most victims readily finding temporary haven with relatives and friends. Twenty-eight Red Cross chapters gave emergency aid, and already registration points have been set up at most disaster locations where families may apply for homes reconstruction, refurnishing, medical and other assistance.

Approximately 200 disaster staff members of the national Red Cross are assigned to flood and tornado areas in the East and South, working with local chapters.

Thinking Of Tasks
Often Wears Us Out

Sometimes it's not the task, but the mere thought of it that makes us tired. In managing mental energy, attitude is the least tangible and most important resource.

"Attitude toward work is one of the most powerful motivating factors in the development of fatigue," says Elizabeth Bryan, Auburn University home management specialist.

"Bodily symptoms of fatigue are often induced not by work but by the mere contemplation of it," the Extension Service staff members says.
